Fall into October with a GREAT book!!

One Book/One County Read

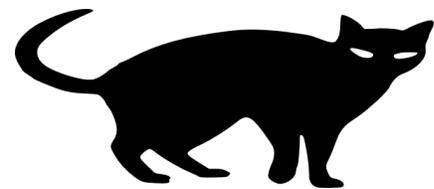

We have told you about the WWII themed program the Lincoln County libraries have planned.

“Finding Foxholes” was presented by Faye Berger September 28. She talked about taking her father to Germany/Europe. That trip eventually became the book our county libraries sponsored for the county-wide WWII program.

Saturday, October 7, all day: Fagan Fighter Museum Charter Bus Trip:

BTFT—Our By the Teens, For the Teens
(all students in 6th grade or above can join us)
Upcoming October 20-21
BTFT Halloween Hangout
(scheduled for MEA weekend, this year) For more information about the BTFT, contact Shelly at the library.

Friday September 29 we hosted Sandy Hanson with a special invitation to the local homeschool group. She taught puppeteering.

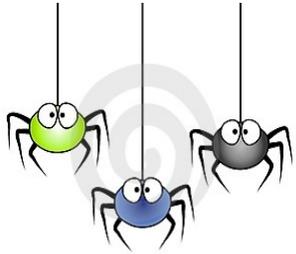

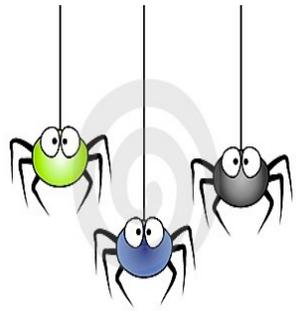

Read for Record—October 26

The book is Quakers by Liz Wong

Located at the public school library during the student's regular library times.

Christopher Schmitz a teen author was invited to speak by the library on September 21st at the public school.

We did invite other schools to join us but unfortunately none were able to attend. So, we opened it up to 5th and 6th graders. We had an absolutely wonderful turnout. Forty-one people came & listened to a phenomenal speaker. We plan on utilizing him as a summer program for teens. Since he is a local author, we think he would fit in the Legacy program requirements too.

FRIDAY MORNING FUN

Fun with Gerome the Gnome

This month, Gerome looked for a book from the friends of the library & he is doing some landscaping.

Dig in the dirt & plant some flowers?

Readers Digest's Practical Guide to Home Landscaping is the book he is reading!

Good luck!!!
